The Westminster Confession of Faith Illustrated Westminster Divines 2021-04-14 The confession is a systematic exposition of Calvinist orthodoxy (which neo-orthodox scholars refer to as "scholastic Calvinism"), influenced by Puritan and covenant theology. It includes doctrines common to most of Christendom such as the Trinity and Jesus' sacrificial death and resurrection, and it contains doctrines specific to Protestantism such as sola scriptura and sola fide. Its more controversial features include the covenant of works with Adam, the Puritan doctrine that assurance of salvation is not a necessary consequence of faith, a minimalist conception of worship, and a strict sabbatarianism

The Westminster Confession of Faith with Pastoral Comments Linus Chua 2020-08-19 The Westminster Confession of Faith is one of the most comprehensive and yet accessible confessional documents that has ever been produced, with thirty three chapters spanning theological and practical subjects from the doctrine of the Trinity and God's decrees to civil matters like marriage and the civil magistrate. After more than 370 years, it remains the gold-standard of Reformed faith and practice, held by Presbyterian churches around the world, firmly rooted upon the Scriptures, and helpfully summarising the whole counsel of God, in order that the church may confess and unite around the truth as well as be protected from a multitude of error. This book is the result of a project by the pastors and elders of Pilgrim Covenant Church to print a short weekly bulletin to be read publicly before our service of worship, going through each paragraph of the Confession and giving a simple and devotional explanation, in order to acquaint the regular churchgoer with the faith that we hold and confess together.

The Westminster Confession of Faith Westminster Divines 2018-06-12 by The Westminster Divines Download in EPUB format, also available for Kindle or in PDF The Westminster Confession of Faith is a Reformed confession of faith, in the Calvinist theological tradition. Although drawn up by the 1646 Westminster Assembly, largely of the Church of England, it became and remains the 'subordinate standard' of doctrine in the Church of Scotland, and has been influential within Presbyterian churches worldwide. In 1643, the English Parliament called upon "learned, godly and judicious Divines", to meet at Westminster Abbey in order to provide advice on issues of worship, doctrine, government and discipline of the Church of England. Their meetings, over a period of five years, produced the confession of faith, as well as a Larger Catechism and a Shorter Catechism. For more than three centuries, various churches around the world have adopted the confession and the catechisms as their standards of doctrine, subordinate to the Bible. The Westminster Confession of Faith was modified and adopted by Congregationalists in England in the form of the Savoy Declaration (1658). Likewise, the Baptists of England modified the Savoy Declaration to produce the Second London Baptist Confession (1689). English Presbyterians, Congregationalists, and Baptists would together (with others) come to be known as Nonconformists, because they did not conform to the Act of Uniformity (1662) establishing the Church of England as the only legally-approved church, though they were in many ways united by their common confessions, built on the Westminster Confession.

How Shall We Revise the Westminster Confession of Faith? Llewelyn John Evans 1890

The Westminster Confession of Faith Samuel William Carruthers 1978

The Westminster Confession of Faith and the Cessation of Special Revelation Garnet Howard Milne 2007-12-01 In the opening chapter of the Confession, the divines of Westminster included a clause that implied that there would no longer be any special immediate revelation from God. Means by which God had once communicated the divine will, such as dreams, visions, and the miraculous gifts of the Spirit, were said to be no longer available. However, many of the authors of the WCF accepted that prophecy continued in their time, and a number of them apparently believed that disclosure of God's will through dreams, visions, and angelic communication remained possible. How is the cessationist clause of WCF 1:1 to be read in the light of these claims? This book reconciles this paradox in a detailed study of the writings of the authors of the Westminster Confession of Faith.

Confessing the Faith Chad B. Van Dixhoorn 2014 This accessible, biblical, and thoughtful work digests years of study and teaching into bite-sized sections. Van Dixhoorn's work is historical and practical in its focus. It deliberately presents readers with more than another survey of Reformed theology; it offers a guide to a particular text, considers its original proof-texts, and seeks to deepen our understanding of each paragraph of the Confession.
